Project's Mission

Corporate portal of non-profit organization. It contain a student list and personal accounts of the sub-organization.

Problems

The larger the organizational structure, the more complex the interaction processes. There are issues with the exchange of information, tracking the movement of members of the organization between sub-organizations, and properly informing members of the organization.

Solution

A corporate portal containing automated cabinets of sub-organizations in which data on members of organizations are synchronized. Newsletters for the given parameters.
