Project's Mission

Mini web application with pages with interactive representation of information in a graphic format for any specific field of activity.

Problems

There were infographics made inside a desktop application with the use of some old technologies. The goal was to take these infographics from there and to make them widespread inside the organization for internal usage.

Solution

Web pages with infographics. Web technologies were used as a solution because of the wide possibilities for element animations - CSS, jQuery. And also for the ability to extend it in future and use outside of the company throughout the web.
